

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A system and method is presented for automated negotiation for and allocation of a broadcast satellite, communication, and caching system resource, involving establishing 5 rules for use of the system by both programmers or content contributors and viewers or content recipients, such rules being implemented for processing throughout the system according to the applicability of the rules to that part of the system, with centralized and decentralized command and reporting.

00000000000000000000000000000000